Place : Tuen Mun Park Reptile House

Content :

A great place for summer activities is the Reptile House in Tuen Mun Park! Today, K1 children went to visit together to see the reptiles in the museum. Wow! There are different species of snakes, lizards and turtles, many of which are even listed as Class I or II endangered species. It's really an eye-opener! We have learned to protect animals, so we will keep quiet when watching and don't harass the animals! We also selected our favorite reptiles for introduction! Next time, you can take your parents to visit together, introduce them to the reptiles in the museum, and see which one they like?

Quotations for young children:

- This is a pig-nosed turtle. Its nose looks like a pig's nose!
- The turtle's neck is so long! It's called a snake-necked turtle.
- 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, there are 5 turtles! Three big turtles and two small turtles.
- Turtles are yellow and black!
- The lizard's tail is so long!

Learning tips:

Taking children to walk and look outdoors more often can stimulate children's observation and interest in things around them. By asking questions from the side, it can improve the development of their ability to learn, analyze things and express themselves.
