Brief Descriptions:

The "Chinese Literature and Art Parent-child Activities" co-organized by the affiliated schools, including sports activities, English Fun booth games, traditional crafts, traditional food street, outdoor game area and etc., integrated the virtues of Chinese culture, such as honesty, friendship and respect. Students learn in a diverse environment and are exposed to a wide range of Chinese cultural elements, helping them to establish their values, thereby enhancing their understanding and appreciation of the culture. While students and parents from affiliated schools provide opportunities for our students to meet new friends and learning how to interact with people in a larger social environment. Hence, expanding their vocabulary and enhancing their language skills.

In the traditional games and sports activities of sports "child" experience, children can gain physical coordination and motor skills while playing. The traditional crafting can stimulate children's creativity. Families and students participate together in activities, allowing parents and children to interact more and enhance emotional connections.
