- Learn about the origins of China's National Day.
- Appreciate things rich in Chinese characteristics and experience the joy within (puppet show).

Brief Descriptions:

Tomorrow, October 1st, is China's National Day. Today, September 30th, we held a flag-raising ceremony, enjoyed a puppet show, played games, and had a dragon dance performance to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the National Day. In the puppet show "Sun Wukong vs. the Red Boy," the children learned about the types and history of puppet theater, as well as the names of the characters from "Journey to the West." The program was truly wonderful! The N and K1 children worked together on the "Great Wall Cake Delivery," transporting a birthday cake to celebrate China's National Day. K2 and K3 children performed a dragon dance outside the school gate to celebrate the occasion. Finally, we took photos in front of the K3 students' ink painting titled "Peach of Longevity." The activities during National Day week were really abundant! Here's wishing China a happy 75th birthday in advance!
