K2 and K3 Students are currently conducting study activities on "Food" and "Health" to discuss in depth the importance of healthy eating. They explore various forms of food diversity, explore how to practice the concept of healthy eating, and experience the subtle connection between food, nature and life. Today, the school specially arranged for students to go to Greenway Academy to participate in the "Food Detective" experience activity. Students transform into small farmers in the park, explore the mysteries of nature, make low-carbon pizza, learn to choose low-carbon ingredients, and experience the fun of cooking and planting. Through activities, students learn how to choose low-carbon ingredients and experience the fun of cooking and growing. Healthy life is not only the enjoyment of taste, but also an attitude towards life!
